

Sink or Float Poem

by Julia Dweck

I sailed one day on a large brick boat,
On waters black as ink.

I waved good-bye to my bonny lass,
But soon began to sink!

I sailed one day on a wooden boat,
And gave it's ropes a tug.

But missed the holes that marked the deck.

And didn't have a plug. *Glub-glub.

I sailed one day on a winning boat
Upon the seas it swayed.

And now it's time for you to guess.

Just how my boat was made.

Use a 3Doodler and 1-2 other elements from the table to construct a winning boat that can float the longest.
